A JOURNAL OF FORWARD-LOOKING AMERICAN NATIONALISM

'Bombers' Framed, Officials Charge

The recent unpleasant happenings in Atlanta have caused the NATIONAL STATES' RIGHTS PARTY to issue the following statement, dated October 17:

This party is opposed to violence of any kind. We condemn recent bombings of schools and synagogues. At the same time we are absolutely convinced of the innocence of members Chester Griffin, George Bright, and Wallace Allen, held in Atlanta, Ga. We understand that lie detector tests have been given. They will prove these men innocent. We will stand by them until they are completely exonerated. In our opinion, this smear has been created to keep the National States' Rights Party off the ballot in 1960.

Officials of the new party believe that this incident will make it possible to begin a nationwide crackdown on Rightist groups. They also believe that great sums of money will be spent to convict these innocent men. If convicted, they can be made to pay with their lives. National Organizer Matt Koehl says, "The real issue at stake is one of civil rights and freedom. Apparently these apply to all, regardless of race, color or creed unless one happens to be a conscious White man."

The DEFEND AMERICA FUND has been established. This Fund is to be used at the discretion of Admiral John G. Cronmelin, Trustee, for legal expenses in this and other cases. The address of the Fund is P.O. Box 441, Wetumpka, Alabama.

Northern League Office Opened

Falling in step with other "realistic idealists" located all around the world, the first North American office of THE NORTHERN LEAGUE has been established at Sausalito, California.

The object of THE NORTHERN LEAGUE is cultural: to create better relations between White people of all nations. In this way the mutual misunderstandings will be eliminated which have so far resulted in two terrible world wars and which now weaken the resistance of Christendom in its fight for survival.

The emphasis of THE NORTHERN LEAGUE is scientific and forward-looking. It is recognized that

PETER ZENGER IS DEAD ... BUT WE AREN'T!

In RIGHT-36, page 1, we warned that alien elements were beginning a campaign to put across "group libel" legislation. This would bar any factual criticism of the subversive activities of certain well-known anti-American organizations.

A different way has been dug up to accomplish the same end. Since it is obvious that the promoters of such legislation would have a hard time getting it through Congress, they have instead persuaded the Post Office Department to "investigate" the possibility of simply barring "hate publications" from the mails and then letting the Soo-preme Court decide if they have a right to do so or not! This information is contained in an October 22 dispatch from the New York Herald-Tribune. Since an article in the same paper on October 6 defines RIGHT as a "hate publication," you can see where we fit in.

The excuse is that these "hate publications" are responsible for inciting the bombing of schools and synagogues. Since no one has yet been convicted of any bombing, except a Communist named "Carl Braden," who recently bombed a Negro home in a White neighborhood in Louisville, it seems as if the Post Office is jumping the gun.

Here is something that all Americans who love truth must fight tooth and toenail. Should the promoters be successful in this, the next step would be to quash all criticism, even the mildest, of unpleasant and unhealthy political and social trends.

Our ruling elite, the press and radio never tire of elling us of our freedom of the press. Peter Zenger and all the other dead heroes are dug up each year, and their stories are repeated over and over. Well, now is the time for our "free press" to begin to put its money where its mouth is. How much do we really believe in freedom? Is it more than a pleasant refrain to give lip service to or are we willing to subscribe to the doctrine when truth and not platitudes is at stake? And isn't it odd how these mysterious bombings are playing right into the hands of the pressure groups?

HOSE SOUTHERN BOMBINGS

As yet there is no proof about who is responsible for the southern synagogue bombings. It may well be that it is the work of the Zionists or the Communists themselves, who know it will stir up further sympathy for the "oppressed minorities" in the South and further hatred for the "barbarous segregationists."

On the other hand, it would not be too surprising if this is actually the work of southerners who feel desperately frustrated, betrayed and abandoned. This would very well be another confirmation of the sociological theorem that White people cannot be forced to obey laws they condemn. Apparently all intelligent Americans except nine Supreme Court appointees have earned this from the failure of Prohibition.

Only one thing seems sure. Although the Zionist-NAACP-AFL-CIO Power Bloc Coalition has all of the federal force and money on its side, and is armed with the eager favor of the press, radio, movies, schools and churches, it will meet an increasingly strong wall of resistance from White people everywhere who realize that this bloody business is not of their own doing, and who do not mean to back down, now that they clearly perceive—behind the smiling face and pentomic troops of Mr. Eisenhower—the Zionist objective of unlimited federal power, permanent minority control and racial and cultural suicide for all Whites.

When faced with heavy odds the reaction of strong-willed people is to fight all the harder, regardless of consequences. This fight is sure to find a growing number of supporters North of Mason-Dixon.

SCIENCE

AN ITEM ON SCIENCE AND SEGREGATION

By ROBERT KUTTNER

A very complicated mythology has developed on the integration-segregation controversy. Without even a decent hesitation for reflection, a large majority of sociologists and psychologists would claim if questioned that racially separate schools are harmful and that the greater the contact of racial minorities with the prevailing majority culture, the better the mental well-being of the minority group. These views have received too wide and too persistent a dissemination to allow any doubts on the subject from entering the minds of the public. The credit for this effective work goes to those liberal journalists and commentators who have hammered the integration gospel into every home and every head.

The Supreme Court, for instance, was informed that segregated schooling damages the personalities of Negro children. It was further told that the barrier of insulation between the Negro sub-culture and the white majority culture contributes to the social and psychological maladjustment of the Negro. All kinds of assurances were given that science had the final answers to this problem. Research has continued, however, and the new facts are not always in agreement with the unshakable views of the radical reformers.

It is worthless to reinvestigate the situation in the American Southland today since normal conditions have been disturbed by a too aggressively pushed program of integration. The emotion-charged atmosphere of a battlefield is not suited for a quiet detached study. New facts must come from a far-off place, from a land free from turmoil. Preferably it must deal with a minority race willing to be studied without the overly militant chaperonage of organizations like the NAACP, the ACLU, or other Negro and liberal action groups. One report fulfilling the above neutral criteria has recently become available.

Dr. R. Walters (University of Toronto) published in The Journal of Abnormal and Social Psychology (July, 1958) a paper entitled "The Intelligence Test Performances of Maori Children." The Maori students examined in this report were of course members of a native Polynesian minority long resident in New Zealand. This study is especially valuable in that its purpose had nothing to do with the ticklish subject of integration but was an attempt to predict the school success of Maori children from a battery of psychological tests. These test scores are what interest us.

Besides a control group of White children, three groups of Maori children were involved, the two which concern us being called the "country Maori" and the "city Maori." The "country Maori" went to special native schools designed to

3 meet the educational problems of the natives, Maori living in the city were under the supervision of local education authorities and not the Department of Maori Schools. Naturally, the urban Maori had the advantage of intense contact with European culture.

Insofar as intelligence tests could show, the "country Maori," deprived of the stimulation of city life and attending largely segregated schools, equalled the Intelligence Quotient (IQ) scores of urban whites. The "city Maori" with all their presumed benefits averaged 5 IQ points below their country cousins. Now this is embarrassing indeed for does not everyone know that when an American Negro or other minority member emigrates to the industrial north and attends an integrated school he automatically improves his performance on IQ tests? At least this is what we are told to believe. Odd, is it not, that it works just the opposite for the Maori in remote New Zealand?

Perhaps we have oversimplified. We should not pretend that one report or even 50 reports can solve this issue. One more gun in the conservative artillery will not be decisive. But this duel is not being fought by intelligent people to promote segregation or integration. The matter at stake is what is the best arrangement for both Negro and White. Can anyone say with 100% certainty that there is no other course but bayonet-point integration and the total collapse of a regional way-of-life held to by forty million White Americans? And if all the evidence is not in, as our one citation from the scientific literature suggests, does this not call for caution?

Who can believe that the Negro of his own initiative wishes to force himself into a society which would resent his intrusion? Rather than undertake such an unwelcome and desperate excursion, would not the Negro be satisfied if made available to him were an adequately-financed school system, properly staffed, and specially designed to meet his educational needs of the moment? Whether there is an alternate path we shall never know unless the squadrons of uncompromising partisan agitators are withdrawn from the scene and safer men are allowed to deliberate on these matters.

ECONOMICS

THE WOMAN I LOVE

By LAMBERT SCHUYLER

The talk is of more price inflation, of a still cheaper dollar. The stock market behaves as though it were sure it is coming. As though to clinch the argument, the building business is greatly improved, in new homes especially.

But anyone who has ever played the stock market knows two things very well: that when public opinion reaches a popular conclusion on any matter it is time to take the opposite stand; and, second, that when a market becomes overbought on margin it will not resume a steady upward trend until there has been a vigorous shake-out of many of the weak holders.

If the public is always wrong, according to the old Wall Street adage, then some millions of shaky holders of heavily attached property like homes and cars are still in for a rough time. Unless the rules of cause and effect have been rewritten by government spending, a great big shake-out is overdue.

And I, for one, regard the present rate of government spending, monstrous as it is, quite inadequate to the job.

All Americans are familiar with the post-war housing developments scattered across the land with row after row of well-spaced and heavily indebted homes, in summertime every street swarming with children of tricycle age and each place crammed with down-payment wares. Those houses were sold on terms so liberal that many occupants have not yet acquitted enough equity to cover the agents' commissions and the contractors' profits. In short, the buyers now own exactly nothing; and those who try to sell out find to their astonishment that their equities are non-existent and that the over-all prices they can get for their homes are far less than what they still owe. It is commonly rumored, in fact, that a great many of these "owners" have no intention of ever paying out on their contracts but are prepared to walk out when things get a little worse and go back to live with the old folks in the still ample home where they were born.

Yet new home building is again on the upgrade and newly married couples are again making $300 down payments with the immediate and happy intent of breeding a new flock of tricycle riders. They are also buying new cars on time and filling their dream homes with installment purchases without end. Are we to believe, then, that this crazy system actually does work if only because there is always a new crop of eager-to-be debtors entering the market? Or are we to believe that this is a pipe dream that comes true because modern money is so designed and controlled that it loses value just fast enough to prevent debtors from ever being embarrassed or shaken out of their heavily margined positions; that inflation, coupled with wage-escalator clauses, will keep America always prosperous, like a drunk on a perpetual binge? Or does that which went up still finally come down again, whatever its orbit?

If you are a good American with a properly washed brain you should, if you don't believe in this Age of Credit in which we luxuriate. You should believe, as in a sort of economic Doxology, that borrowing at the usual installment loan rate of 18% enables the debtor to put it over on the lender in a rather clever way because thusly does he have more of the good things of life, and sooner, than if he paid cash. The duped lender, on the other hand, gets enormously rich but it doesn't do him any good really, you believe, because he worries so over how to collect all that is owed to him. Like Libtace, he cries all the way to the bank. And the debtor wins in the end when he walks out on the deal and goes back to help Pop with the chores.

Speak not harshly, you say, of the woman I love. This is capitalism which you, Schuyler, are making fun of. Rather, his situation calls for Faith, Confidence and a Deathless Devotion to the mortgage principle. Certainly inflation is coming; and anyone who intimates that instead we are headed for deflation and a shakeout foresees, wickedly as it were, how upon row of dwellings standing empty and in the hands of the Bank which does not like owning empty dwellings; or else in the hands of Uncle Sam who insured the mortgages and who is now in no shape financially to underwrite disaster. Should we not, verily, thank Providence for inflation and regard it not as evil but as the standing miracle of our time? As the value of the dollar sloughs away, look at the bright vision of the future!

Our oath of allegiance, as revised, puts our nation under God. In my mind's eye, our God, then, must in this scene hold in his right hand the ancient S-ball emblem of the pawn shop.

As a matter of history, both our economy and our religion stem from the Jews. And like one of those new Buicks, even heaven, on approval of credit, may be had with a small down payment and on easy terms.

What a philosophy!

PHILOSOPHY

A NEW UNDERSTANDING OF HISTORY

By BYRAM CAMPBELL

In ancient Egypt lived the Pharaoh Ikunaton (1375-1358 B.C.) who conceived of the sun as a god, and worshipped it alone. Such was a basically new idea for it claimed supremacy for oneness. The Jews maintained this claim of supremacy for oneness in their conception of Jehovah.

Several centuries before the birth of Christ, Greek philosophers tried to discover a single unifying principle which would provide a basis for understanding nature.

In these quests the explorers were, from the point of view of this writer, projecting a demand of their inner natures on the outer world. They belonged to a breed apart—men of unstable natures, in need of an absolute to quiet doubt and inner turmoil. This demand could only be met through faith in a final reality—a reality based on oneness. We shall therefore name them monists, worshippers of oneness. In spite of or possibly because of their restricted outlooks, monists have proved to be effective propagandists. They set in motion forces which, if need be, carry on independent of monistic minds. In this writer's opinion it was such a process which brought about the Dark Ages.

During the Dark Ages men lived in an atmosphere conducive to peace of mind for the monist. An almost complete intellectual vacuum prevailed. Facts were condemned as pagan. In this way questions that might disturb the darkness of oneness were not raised.

Finally the sane members of society rejected this unquestioning attitude, and the Renaissance was born.

During the Renaissance, light flooded the land. Horizons opened in all directions. New continents were found. Men were set free to discover facts and, finally, during the Enlightenment to make deductions from them. These projects which were stimulating to normal men were having an opposite effect on monists, who longed for a new comprehensive belief that would take possession of the minds of men and again make them all as one. But first they must stop the progress of reason. During the Romantic Age, which followed the Enlightenment, a start was made toward ending the reign of reason. Not only was doubt thrown on the worth of reason, but the emotions were declared to be the only proper guide to the solution of social problems.

Collectivism means the supremacy of the whole over the parts. In this conception monistic minds can find a congenial belief, a refuge from reality in an all-enveloping oneness.

The French philosopher and social theorist, Auguste Comte, believed that humanity forms a single organism and that the individual is but an abstraction. To the normal man the opposite is true, but it is the whole which is the abstraction. Comte was for a time insane, and it is my belief that intense monists are all tinged with paranoia. Marx believed that socialism (communism) would end differences and that a classless, self-directing society would spring into being. Obviously, to such minds, even natural divisions of mankind such as those of race and nation are wrong, for they challenge the supremacy of totality.

The rulers of Communist Russia and China suffer from a mania for unity—a characteristic of the monistic mentality. To further "unity" they have liquidated millions of dissenters. When Mao Tse-Tung could no longer escape the fact that demands for unity were but further disrupting his land, he called for "a hundred roses to bloom in a hundred gardens." But Mao could not for long tolerate diversity. Being a monist, such negated the very basis for his conception of society.

American monists have developed great programs. To further drive men into oneness the world must be made into one. America has been assigned the task of leading the "free world" into the collectivistic concept of One World. Though internationalism has cost America beyond all reckoning our monists are not concerned, for they have made tremendous progress in pursuit of the phantom, One World, this being borne out by the fact that the majority of Americans no longer resist projects based on internationalism. Today, in ever widening areas monistic minds, through the agency of various collectivistic concepts are creating a world dominated by oneness. Let us liken this to a natural phenomenon.

We are witnessing a vast whirlpool which would draw us into the depths of a new darkness. Many currents are streaming into the swirl, though they end in one. Can the whirlpool be stopped? The forces of darkness have been routed in the past and they can be again. But to accomplish this we must understand the force that would again enslave us. It is found in the minds of men—a group trembling on the brink of irrationality.

SCIENCE

Dr. Austin J. App, a recognized authority on Germany and the Allied-Russian occupation of Europe, has a few of his books and pamphlets reviewed in this issue's "Books" section.

RUSSIAN SUPREMACY, A FRUIT OF FALSEHOOD

By AUSTIN J. APP, Ph.D.

During the war, the American people were flooded with propaganda to the effect that the National Socialist government of Germany not only forced the Einsteins to emigrate, but also so clamped down on scholars and researchers that science and learning were as dead in Germany as the Dresden art museums after the Allied blitz. When therefore after the Soviets fired the first Sputnik it came out that it was German scientists whom the Soviets had captured (under the rules of the Yalta pact) as slave laborers who organized Sputnik; everybody was taken by surprise. One was surprised to learn such incidental facts as that "Prof. Otto Hahn (was) the physicist who first described atomic fission in 1939" (Nation, June 23, 1958), which was right when, according to propaganda. German science had been exiled from Germany with Einstein!

The September 1 issue of Newsweek reports that Soviet Russia, roused into action by the U. S. nuclear sub that negotiated the polar route, "has begun a recruiting campaign for East German scientists and former U-boat experts." It is offering them as much as $1500.00 a month with food and living quarters. Note here that these former U-boat captains were developed during a period when presumably all German science had been crushed by governmental Horst Wessel singing!

But the crowning tribute to German wartime science came recently from no other than former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson. In an interview he questioned the value of shooting a rocket to the moon. And according to Newsweek (Aug. 29, 1958):

"Mr. Wilson also expressed some reservations about other recent scientific achievements:

"On the race to launch an earth satellite (he said): 'The real competition was between two bunches of German scientists, those with the Russians and those with us.'"

Surely, if the supposedly suppressed German wartime science could produce such startling achievements, one is justified in questioning the validity of our wartime propaganda, not only with regard to German science from 1934 to 1945, but also with regard to everything else.

It is high time for the suppressed facts about these and many other crucial matters to be dug out and placed in the light of day, so that all men may see them. A non-partisan Survival Commission (as for example such as that proposed in RIGHT No. 28) would appear to be necessary to ferret out all the facts because both political parties are more or less responsible for creating and maintaining our present predicament and both are to a greater or lesser degree controlled or influenced by leftist or Morgenthauistic forces.

FOREIGN POLICY

OUR FOREIGN POLICY IS OUTDATED

By WILLIS A. CARTO

In spite of the fact that Mr. Nixon believes that anyone who says that the Russians are ahead of the United States in military preparedness is doing our Nation a disfavor, truth is still better than falsehood and facing facts is better than ignoring them. We have not yet attained a state of supine and suicidal faith in the veracity of the transient words of gilded politicians. When we do, let us forever abandon all pretense of being a free people and admit that self-government is a failure.

The hard fact is that the USSR is clearly and unquestionably ahead of the US in many vital fields of arms and that her lead is growing each day. This fact is pointed up by numerous military men and others in an unusual position to know. To ignore it is the height of irresponsibility.

The full impact of the military superiority of the Soviets has been lessened by our recent public relations feat of firing a missile towards the moon, sending a nuclear sub under the North Pole and the success of our Sidewinder air-to-air missile against the Chinese Reds over Quemoy.

These things, plus the apparent—or anyway, a temporary—

end of Soviet braggadocio, have contributed to a dangerous apathy which threatens to undermine the healthy alarm and fear that was recently beginning to make some Americans ask a few questions about how our leaders allowed us to fall into the position of military second-rater.

To begin with, we must grant the unchallenged superiority of the Central Asian bloc in ground troops. No responsible official claims that we can hope to beat Russia and her tens of millions of cannon-fodder on the ground. And practically everyone admits the obvious fact that NATO is incapable of even seriously delaying the Russian troops if they are given marching orders. It is recognized that our hope of victory in an all-out war lies in the field of technology. We must pit our superior industrial and technical skill against the masses of enemy infantry. Such is the concept.

Therefore, in the all-important technological field, one would assume that our leaders have spared nothing to assure us of superiority. But such is not the case. Ever since before the end of the war, and in spite of complete knowledge of the facts, the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower Administrations have done perhaps irreparable harm to our military position through bungling and stupid decisions.

For example, these decisions have:

(1) Turned over to the Russians after the war a fully-intact V-1 and V-2 factory at Nordhausen.

(2) Allowed almost the entire team of German scientists at Peenemunde and the Peenemunde base itself to slip through its fingers to the Reds.

(3) Allowed the Reds to kidnap over 2,000 top-notch German scientists and made conditions so difficult for German technicians, engineers, designers, etc., who wanted to work for the West that at least 250,000 of these highly skilled specialists have worked for Russia at one time or another.

(4) Allowed the Reds to make off with enough of our secrets to enable them to explode their first atomic bomb in 1949, years before our "experts" said they could, and to detonate the world's first true H-Bomb in mid-1953—seven months before we did.

(5) Refused to heed the abundant warnings of many prominent people and intelligence reports which have warned for years that the USSR was ahead of us in the development of missiles and aircraft, and then expressed surprise at the forewarned event.

(6) Allowed the Reds to get a perhaps fatal lead on us with an operational ICBM.

Now that this water has gone over the dam we find ourselves in the following predicament:

(1) In 1960, the Reds are expected to have 100 ICBM's, the U.S. 30. In 1961, USSR 500, USA 70. In 1962, USSR 1,000, USA 130. In 1963, USSR 1,500, USA 130. These years are called "the gap" by the Pentagon. What are the years after 1963 called? "American subjugation," perhaps?

(2) There is nothing in prospect to alter this balance except a few score of the Navy's sub-borne Polaris missiles, which will be operational not before 1962. The much-touted Minuteman missile will not be operational at least until 1963 or 1964.

(3) Our SAC force, recognized as our main line of defense, which carries our power of "massive retaliation" is becoming obsolescent. With the coming transition to missile warfare, the US will be made progressively helpless beginning in a year.

(4) The Reds are even ahead of us in conventional aircraft. According to the New York Daily News they have a 5,000-plane edge in combat jet aircraft. Says the News, "We and the British are eight years behind the Russians in both long range bombers and transports."

(5) Recognizing all these facts, Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, an honest soldier, resigned from his post of command. He has charged:

"Errors in our military policy portend trouble for the United States, for they bring into question our very ability to wage war . . . we are in mortal danger."

(6) Gavin's successor, Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, has charged that Russia's gains are due more to successful espionage than scientific prowess, and went on to say, "I don't believe our situation has ever been so critical, even just after Pearl Harbor."

The recent news that the Pentagon was making a study of military surrender has seemed to many informed persons to be quite in order with the pattern of decline and demoralization outlined above. It is reported that Mr. Eisenhower was angry when he was told of the matter. But apparently his anger was because news of the study had "leaked."

The facts indicate that unless some radical steps are at once taken, or unless some completely new and unexpected quantity—such as a miracle—comes into the picture, only the most serious consequences are in view. A housecleaning is needed from the very top down, and the people who have not only brought this to pass but who are yet guiding our still suicidal policies must be thrown out.

One of the most important matters is that of foreign policy. A successful foreign policy must be based on reality. Surely the facts indicate that, at best, a thorough re-examination of our foreign policy is in order. Can we continue to attempt to defend the rest of the world with our rapidly deteriorating military capability? Obviously, we have drastically overextended ourselves. Changes must be made before the error of yesterday become the debacles of tomorrow.

EUGENE COWLES POMEROY

February, 1960

GEORGE W. MALONE
RESEARCH DIRECTOR

Dear American:

QUESTION: How can we stop the internationalists?

ANSWER: Take the PROFIT out of internationalism!

Above is a brief dialog which I would like to shout into the ear of every patriot. It reveals a truth which is of capital importance. This truth is that we are where we are because the clever schemers behind the scenes are getting rich promoting it all!

This is the secret explanation why there are so many millionaire socialists, communists and politicians. This is why the internationalists are so strong.

I say that the biggest lie of the century is that the leftists are proletarian reformers. They are not. They are cunning, ruthless, immensely wealthy conspirators who know how to tap hidden human drives of weakness: greed, hatred, envy, ambition, gullibility and even misplaced idealism. Then they take these elements and mix them in a witches' brew of political power to protect and add to their wealth.

Now the way to beat these subverters is to take the profit out of their subversion. The way to take the profit out of their subversion is to make it unprofitable to be an internationalist. . . . And the way to make it unprofitable to be an internationalist is to raise the tariff.

This is the main reason why we selected the tariff issue as the one for the LIBERTY LOBBY to seize to begin its Washington operations.

WE'VE LEARNED A LOT

Since selecting this issue, we have learned a lot. Now we understand why the issue of tariff is the central one of this moment. After close study we have discovered an appalling fact:

This fact is that unless present trends are reversed, within three or four years we will be--irretrievably and inevitably--in world government!

I say that even if we were to withdraw from the UN tomorrow (and I include the World Court in this) we are still heading for world government unless we immediately reverse our present trade policies.

There are two reasons for this, either one of which is bad enough and together they are the answer to Khrushchev's dreams. One, the network of trade agreements which our government has committed us to--and the ones planned for us--have the effect of subjecting our national economy to foreign interests and overruling our sovereignty. Two, vast sectors of American business are becoming increasingly committed to the safety and profitability of billions of dollars of overseas investments. The well-being and security of America's economic base is grievously jeopardized.

You will read little if anything about this imminent peril in your internationalist-controlled "Free Press" newspapers and magazines.

LIBERTY LOBBY AT WORK NOW

The LIBERTY LOBBY has embarked upon a large-scale campaign to reverse this disastrous trend. We are staking our future on the success of this campaign. To start with, we have set up the Trade Policy Committee as an "arm" of the LIBERTY LOBBY. The purpose of the TPC is sole and specific. It is to pass the Mason-Bailey Bill, H.R. 10181.

This is the former Malone Bill, developed by America's foremost expert on the subject, Senator George W. Malone—who is now serving as our Research Director.

The LIBERTY LOBBY will fight on this issue—through the Trade Policy Committee—until we win. And we will win!

Already we have had remarkable success. We have had the old Malone Bill re-introduced, with the bi-partisan leadership of outstanding congressmen. We have the pledged cooperation of hundreds of congressmen, senators, columnists, trade associations, patriotic magazines, papers and groups. We have set up a special Washington office in the National Press Building for the Trade Policy Committee. We have the beginning of a large mailing list which will ultimately reach every daily and weekly newspaper in the country, as well as tens of thousands of influential Americans. We already have gotten some fine publicity. We will get more. Speeches have been made on the floor of Congress in support of H.R. 10181.

We will do all we can to help the backers of H.R. 10181 move it through hearings in committee and to the floor for a vote. They need grass-roots support if they are to pass the bill. Stirring up public awareness of the need for H.R. 10181 is a large part of our job.

Please note that we are taking the offensive. Our side can never win if it persists in fighting defensively. So we are moving forward all the time.

THE ODDS WE FIGHT

The quicker we pass H.R. 10181, the quicker the LIBERTY LOBBY can move on to some other vital issue—and win that one, too. But we are fighting against billions of dollars of entrenched, selfish, special-interest pressure groups. They will spend money like water to prevent their special privileges from being taken away. This is all part of the reason why your financial support is needed . . . adequately and promptly.

Already we have spent $4500 or more. It took us almost three years to raise this. Soon, our "nest egg" will be all gone. Yet we are committed to spending a lot more. We need your help. Won't you contribute to the best of your ability to this SUCCESSFUL and aggressive campaign?

Again I insist—we will be victorious if you do your part, but without your help we cannot hope to win. Please make out a check for a generous amount and mail it in the enclosed envelope. Perhaps you can make a regular pledge. If so, we will send you a reminder and an envelope every month.

Please let us hear from you at once. Yours, for VICTORY, rise, so as to create a larger market in their countries.

This is the wise measure developed by Sen. George W. Malone after years of study and exhaustive research. The conscientious legislators who have introduced it in the 86th Congress need every bit of grass-roots support they can get if they are to pass this bill.

WHAT IS THE TRADE POLICY COMMITTEE?

The TPC has been set up by a group of Americans specifically to promote passage of the Mason-Bailey Bill. The Committee is not interested in perpetuating itself. It wants action. It is registered as a lobby and that is what it is. But it is a different kind of lobby. It is for the national interest and the general welfare of all Americans, and not for any special, limited interest.

HOW CAN VOTERS HELP PASS H.R. 10181?

* Write your congressman and senators. Ask them to support H.R. 10181. Advise them frankly that their attitude on this vital question will greatly influence your attitude when they come up for re-election and ask your vote.

* Tell your friends about the work of the TRADE POLICY COMMITTEE and seek their help and letters to Washington. Send us their names and addresses for our mailing lists.

* Send a contribution to the TRADE POLICY COMMITTEE. This work must be financed by working people and small investors. They are most hurt of all. They cannot transfer their work and capital overseas. Their livelihood—and their country—is at stake.

A Brief Analysis of a Serious Condition . . .

And What Can Still

Be Done About It . . .

HISTORY. In 1791 the Founding Fathers laid down a basic principle of American government, and spelled it out plainly in Article I, Section 8 of the Constitution. That principle was that Congress and Congress alone had the responsibility to regulate trade with foreign lands.

Article II, Section 2 gave the Executive branch the duty of administering our foreign policy.

Under this wise and typically American principle of separation of powers, the United States prospered as no country ever had in human history.

From the beginning, Congress set tariffs. In fact, the first act of Congress—after an organizing bill—was a tariff law to protect the industries of the new Nation. Throughout the years, Congress raised or lowered the tariff as conditions changed. The aim was to equalize the costs of production here and abroad. This assured fair competition. It made the American economy strong.

PROGRESS REVERSED. In 1934 there was an abrupt reversal of the progressive principle of separation of powers. Congress passed the Trade Agreement Act (misnamed “reciprocal trade”).

The 1934 law clothed the Executive with the power to regulate foreign trade and the national economy. In effect, this put the State Department in control of American industry.

President Roosevelt said that this was only a “temporary” measure, to expire with the end of the “emergency” then existing. It expired but was renewed . . . again and again and again.

THE RESULT HAS BEEN CHAOS. Under the cloak of seeking “allies” and “friends,” the starry-eyed reformers in the State Department have arrogantly issued death sentences on thousands of American industries. For the first time since 1876, thanks to them, we have an unfavorable balance of trade, and our gold reserve—supposedly the backing for our currency—is almost all gone. Irresponsibly, they have made us dependent on far-away sources for the critical raw materials we need for peace and war. The wreckage which has been caused by the 1934 law is appalling . . . incredible . . . but fully documented by the Research Division of the TRADE POLICY COMMITTEE.

THE ROAD AHEAD. A continuance of the present policy means these things:

(1) Probable defeat in war, for we will be isolated from our sources of raw materials by 600 Russian submarines known to be afloat.

(2) An increasing bleeding of American capital overseas and the closing of American factories as more and more businessmen transfer their plants abroad. This, while temporarily profitable for some businessmen, will irreparably cripple our domestic economy and national defense.

(3) Gradual, ever-tightening control over the economy and political structure of the Nation by a world super-authority heedless of the rights and needs of Americans.

(4) The steady lowering of the American standard of living to a common denominator with the rest of the world.

THE CURE IS SIMPLE BUT TAKES IMMEDIATE ACTION. Strip the State Department of its authority over the national economy by passing H.R. 10181, the Mason-Bailey Bill.

The Mason-Bailey Bill provides that the Tariff Commission—an agency of Congress established in 1916—shall again establish and adjust flexible tariffs after proper hearings on the principle of developing the whole country alike. The bill will equalize the cost of production of American products with imported ones.

The Mason-Bailey Bill takes the profit out of sweatshop labor at the water's edge. It will encourage exploiters of low-wage workers to allow wages in their countries to

Tariff Revival Urged To Protect U.S. Jobs

By PETER ANDREWS

Hearst Headline Service Special to N. Y. Journal-American

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Rep. Noah Mason (R.-Ill.) has introduced a bill designed to "take the profit out of sweatshop labor" in foreign markets and re-establish a system of flexible duties and tariffs.

Rep. Mason, a longtime advocate of protective tariffs and ranking minority member of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, said the bill provides the Tariff Commission can again establish tariffs.

The bill, referred to the Ways and Means Committee, is a duplicate of a measure introduced last year in the Senate by former Sen. George Malone (R.-Nev.).

"I believe it is now time for Congress to reassert its rightful authority over foreign trade and the national economy," Rep. Mason said. "We must recognize there have been some basic and far-reaching changes in the world economy, and we must catch up with these changes because our national survival depends on keeping abreast of them."

Rep. Mason scored the policy of large-scale American expenditures abroad while we import mass-produced items from foreign markets by spending our gold reserves overseas. Our gold stocks are at a "frighteningly low level," Rep. Mason said.

"No longer can we irresponsibly and ruinously assume the American worker and taxpayer can forever support the rest of the world," he said. "To do so will result in the complete destruction of our economy and industry."

Rep. Mason said several men and women in his district have lost jobs because of unfair labor practices in other countries.

The protective tariff bill will "not only halt the bleeding of American jobs, capital and industry to foreign lands, Rep. Mason said, "it will also encourage exploiters of low-wage workers overseas to allow wages in their countries to rise, so as to create a larger market in their countries."

The Mason bill specifically amends the 1930 Tariff Act by striking out the 1934 Trade Agreements Act amendment, which took away the authority of the commission and set up the reciprocal trade system.

The Illinois Republican also accused the State Department of usurping authority over tariffs, charging that, "duly elected Congressmen and not diplomats have the proper responsibility to oversee the health of the American economy."

A VALUABLE BOOK-LIST

A NORTHERN LEAGUE PAMPHLET

23, ROLLAND STREET DUNFERMLINE SCOTLAND

We may pride ourselves on being men of open mind, unclouded by the phobias and "isms" that are so common, but if one has spent much leisure time browsing in the bookshops of Edinburgh, London, Amsterdam or elsewhere, one becomes convinced that in the bookselling business there is a subtle and insidious game afoot. It seems as though some agency exists to buy up whatever the price all possible titles relating to what some might call the Radical Right. There is a codex expurgatorius which after its fashion secures the withdrawal of all works on 'Heroic Vitalism', nationalist philosophy and any racial topics which belong to the "separatist" school.

If for example one was inclined to buy "Essai sur l'inegalite des races humaine" by Count Arthur Gobineau. "The Foundations of the Nineteenth Century" by Houston Stewart Chamberlain or any of the prose works of Richard Wagner, the greatest difficulty would be experienced in obtaining them despite the fact that considerable editions of these works were produced from time to time. The works of the well known anthropologists in America, Madison Grant and Lothrop Stoddard whose important books "The Passing of the Great Race" and "The Revolt against Civilisation" caused such a stir and were produced in vast numbers are now well nigh unobtainable.

Of particular interest in this connection is the work of Anthony M. Ludovici whose recent guest article in that up and coming paper "Right" caused a tide of interest recently amongst right-thinking people. Of his considerable published works in Britain, devoted as they were to the interests of eugenic improvement, aristocracy in its original concept, and the security of the White world, nothing remains to be bought.

H. F. K. Gunther, the celebrated German anthropologist, whose post-war books "Lebensgeschichte des Römischen Volkes" and "Lebensgeschichte des Hellenischen Volkes" have caused quite a sensation in Germany, is another whose works mysteriously cannot be found. His English translation by Methuen of "The Racial Elements of European History" is as scarce as snow in Hell, and what a pity too, for that book is a masterly study of the European people and their ways. Under the stimulus of displaced professors from the continent and others of alien origin, often, the anthropological faculties of English and American Universities spend all their energy and talented young men on considering the sex life of the Mende or thumb sucking in the Polynesian Islands, the purpose of which would seem to keep the attention of students away from an interested study of native Europeans.

The purposely neglected study of eugenics is another subject about which a curtain has been drawn. There is a bibliographical black-out about such names as C.B. Davenport, K. Dunlap, E. S. Gosney, P. Popenoe, R. R. Gates, H. P. Fairfield, H. R. Hunt, S. J. Holmes, H. S. Jennings, Wm. Macdougall, W. S. Thomson, and A. E. Wiggan. Yet the purchase of any of their works, wherever they can be found, will save them for a grateful posterity.

Books well-nigh unobtainable nowadays are the political works of the great neo-classical thinker, recently deceased, Wyndham Lewis. From time to time copies of his novels are for sale, but such works are "The Art of Being Ruled" and "Time and Western Man" are whisked away from view whenever they appear for sale. Much the same can be said of the philosophical and political works of D. H. Lawrence and the great American poet Ezra Pound. Alexis Carrel, the noted French bio-Chemist, whose electrifying pre-war book "Man the Unknown" did so much to attack the accumulated decadence of British and France before the Second War, is another author who appears to have been subjected to the unwelcome interests of these unknown enemies of European civilisation.

As the struggle for the soul of Europe deepens, we, of true European descent must seek to organise our armoury of literature. In preparation for the total ideological war which we have to face, it behoves us all to acquaint ourselves with these books and to buy wherever possible any second hand copies to ensure they are not lost or deliberately destroyed. There is appended a book list which the writer hopes will serve as a guide to the vast literature which exists in English for people proud of their inheritance and keen to build for the future.

The headquarters of the NORTHERN LEAGUE, in Scotland, extends a special invitation to them to join hands with their kinsmen around the world to preserve our common racial heritage. Offices of the NORTHERN LEAGUE are now established in most North European countries, and in other parts of the world where members of this family are to be found.

THE LEAGUE IS SOMETHING YOU CANNOT OVERLOOK IF YOU WISH TO SEE YOUR NORTH
EUROPEAN HERITAGE PRESERVED

JOIN THE NORTHERN LEAGUE

Perhaps the most far reaching political trend in the history of the European peoples in the second millennium has been the divorce of nationality and race. Up to the end of the first millennium it was customary amongst our forefathers in Europe to speak of people rather than states, and the elected monarchs were known as Kings of the English, Kings of the Danes or Kings of the Franks rather than King of England, of Denmark or of France. With feudalism, however, there came a rupture with this ancient idea of race-nations, and monarchs were no longer thought of as the father of their people (king-cyning or "father"). Instead they became territorial lords, who leased out the lands they held to tenants in return for fealty and service, and the common peoples became tied to the land on which they were born, mere chattels of the monarchs. Kinship receded into the background as the basis of national ties, and land ownership became all-important. Nationality came to be determined not by descent, not by the common blood ties of a shared biological heritage, but by the accident of geographical location.

At first this seemed merely a step forwards toward more efficient administration, and since the very fact of feudalism prevented persons from moving freely from one district to another, or from the realms of one lord to those of another, so kinship and territorial overlordship went hand in hand. Eventually, however, the essential divorce which had taken place began to have its effect. Territories became amalgamated or divided by marriages or deaths of the rulers; populations began to migrate, changing their allegiance or "nationality" as they went, and as modern economic forces destroyed feudalism, citizenship and nationality ceased to have anything to do with race, and place of birth became more important in determining the nationality of the child than race or heritage. This meant racial chaos.

What we have to learn, and learn quickly, if we as Europeans are not to be annihilated as a species, is to begin to think in terms of ethnic identity, and pan-national concepts. What we must do is develop a world-wide bond between our own kind, and to avoid being misled into more fratricidal wars. For the past thousand years we have been busy destroying our own kind, while those of other races sit back and laugh at us. When are we going to begin to think in terms of ethnic and racial identity?

The only way to begin is to educate ourselves in those subjects regarding biology and the biological interpretation of history which have been left out of our school syllabus—left out not accidentally but intentionally. Towards this end the successful 40 page bi-monthly journal of North European friendship, Northern World (for persons of North European descent throughout the world), was launched two years ago. Now, encouraged by their progress, the supporters of this journal have launched THE NORTHERN LEAGUE, which is a cultural and educational institution aimed at so educating North Europeans. Membership is only $3 per annum, and entitles members to free copies of the League's monthly news review of race matters throughout the world entitled The Northlander; free specimens of all League leaflets (and an unlimited supply of these on request for free circulation to friends); and also the cooperation and advice of the League Secretary in all matters relating to the progress of North European friendship throughout the world.

The League, with its moderate membership fees, is a sure step towards preventing the internecine strife which has torn our people in the past, and also of stopping the threatened annihilation of our kind by assimilation into other and larger groups. And not only is it a cheap way of helping the cause, but its free literature service to members is something which no one interested in White European survival can afford to miss.

A JOURNAL OF FORWARD-LOOKING AMERICAN NATIONALISM

'Bombers' Framed, Officials Charge

The recent unpleasant happenings in Atlanta have caused the NATIONAL STATES' RIGHTS PARTY to issue the following statement, dated October 17:

This party is opposed to violence of any kind. We condemn recent bombings of schools and synagogues. At the same time we are absolutely convinced of the innocence of members Chester Griffin, George Bright, and Wallace Allen, held in Atlanta, Ga. We understand that lie detector tests have been given. They will prove these men innocent. We will stand by them until they are completely exonerated. In our opinion, this smear has been created to keep the National States' Rights Party off the ballot in 1960.

Officials of the new party believe that this incident will make it possible to begin a nationwide crackdown on Rightist groups. They also believe that great sums of money will be spent to convict these innocent men. If convicted, they can be made to pay with their lives. National Organizer Matt Koehl says, "The real issue at stake is one of civil rights and freedom. Apparently these apply to all, regardless of race, color or creed unless one happens to be a conscious White man."

The DEFEND AMERICA FUND has been established. This Fund is to be used at the discretion of Admiral John G. Crommelin, Trustee, for legal expenses in this and other cases. The address of the Fund is P.O. Box 441, Wetumpka, Alabama.

Northern League Office Opened

Falling in step with other "realistic idealists" located all around the world, the first North American office of THE NORTHERN LEAGUE has been established at Sausalito, California.

The object of THE NORTHERN LEAGUE is cultural: to create better relations between White people of all nations. In this way the mutual misunderstandings will be eliminated which have so far resulted in two terrible world wars and which now weaken the resistance of Christendom in its fight for survival.

The emphasis of THE NORTHERN LEAGUE is scientific and forward-looking. It is recognized that

THE RIGHT LINE

PETER ZENGER IS DEAD
... BUT WE AREN'T!

In RIGHT 36, page 1, we warned that alien elements were beginning a campaign to put across "group libel" legislation. This would bar any factual criticism of the subversive activities of certain well-known anti-American organizations.

A different way has been dug up to accomplish the same end. Since it is obvious that the promoters of such legislation would have a hard time getting it through Congress, they have instead persuaded the Post Office Department to "investigate" the possibility of simply barring "hate publications" from the mails and then letting the Supreme Court decide if they have a right to do so or not! This information is contained in an October 22 dispatch from the New York Herald-Tribune. Since an article in the same paper on October 6 defines RIGHT as a "hate publication," you can see where we fit in.

The excuse is that these "hate publications" are responsible for inciting the bombing of schools and synagogues. Since no one has yet been convicted of any bombing, except a Communist named "Carl Braden," who recently bombed a Negro home in a White neighborhood in Louisville, it seems as if the Post Office is jumping the gun.

Here is something that all Americans who love truth must fight tooth and toenail. Should the promoters be successful in this, the next step would be to quash all criticism, even the mildest, of unpleasant and unhealthy political and social trends.

Our ruling elite, the press and radio never tire of telling us of our freedom of the press. Peter Zenger and all the other dead heroes are dug up each year, and their stories are repeated over and over. Well, now is the time for our "free press" to begin to put its money where its mouth is. How much do we really believe in freedom? Is it more than a pleasant refrain to give lip service to or are we willing to subscribe to the doctrine when truth and not platitudes is at stake?

And isn't it odd how these mysterious bombings are playing right into the hands of the pressure groups?

THOSE SOUTHERN BOMBINGS

As yet there is no proof about who is responsible for the southern synagogue bombings. It may well be that it is the work of the Zionists or the Communists themselves, who know it will stir up further sympathy for the "oppressed minorities" in the South and further hatred for the "barbarous segregationists."

On the other hand, it would not be too surprising if this is actually the work of southerners who feel desperately frustrated, betrayed and abandoned. This could very well be another confirmation of the sociological theorem that White people cannot be forced to obey laws they condemn. Apparently all intelligent Americans except nine Supreme Court appointees have learned this from the failure of Prohibition.

Only one thing seems sure. Although the Zionist-NAACP-AFL-CIO Power Bloc Coalition has all of the federal force and money on its side, and is armed with the eager favor of the press, radio, movies, schools and churches, it will meet an increasingly strong wall of resistance from White people everywhere who realize that this bloody business is not of their own doing, and who do not mean to back down, now that they clearly perceive—behind the smiling face and pentomic troops of Mr. Eisenhower—the Zionist objective of unlimited federal power, permanent minority control and racial and cultural suicide for all Whites.

When faced with heavy odds the reaction of strong-willed people is to fight all the harder, regardless of consequences. This fight is sure to find a growing number of supporters North of Mason-Dixon.

SCIENCE

AN ITEM ON SCIENCE AND SEGREGATION

By ROBERT KUTTNER

A very complicated mythology has developed on the integration-segregation controversy. Without even a decent hesitation for reflection, a large majority of sociologists and psychologists would claim if questioned that racially separate schools are harmful and that the greater the contact of racial minorities with the prevailing majority culture, the better the mental well-being of the minority group. These views have received too wide and too persistent a dissemination to allow any doubts on the subject from entering the minds of the public. The credit for this effective work goes to those liberal journalists and commentators who have hammered the integration gospel into every home and every head.

The Supreme Court, for instance, was informed that segregated schooling damages the personalities of Negro children. It was further told that the barrier of insulation between the Negro sub-culture and the white majority culture contributes to the social and psychological maladjustment of the Negro. All kinds of assurances were given that science had the final answers to this problem. Research has continued, however, and the new facts are not always in agreement with the unshakable views of the radical reformers.

It is worthless to reinvestigate the situation in the American Southland today since normal conditions have been disturbed by a too aggressively pushed program of integration. The emotion-charged atmosphere of a battlefield is not suited for a quiet detached study. New facts must come from a far-off place, from a land free from turmoil. Preferably it must deal with a minority race willing to be studied without the overly militant chaperonage of organizations like the NAACP, the ACLU, or other Negro and liberal action groups. One report fulfilling the above neutral criteria has recently become available.

Dr. R. Walters (University of Toronto) published in The Journal of Abnormal and Social Psychology (July, 1958) a paper entitled "The Intelligence Test Performances of Maori Children." The Maori students examined in this report were of course members of a native Polynesian minority, long resident in New Zealand. This study is especially valuable in that its purpose had nothing to do with the ticklish subject of integration but was an attempt to predict the school success of Maori children from a battery of psychological tests. These test scores are what interest us.

Besides a control group of White children, three groups of Maori children were involved, the two which concern us being called the "country Maori" and the "city Maori." The "country Maori" went to special native schools designed to

3 meet the educational problems of the natives. Maori living in the city were under the supervision of local education authorities and not the Department of Maori Schools. Naturally, the urban Maori had the advantage of intense contact with European culture.

Insofar as intelligence tests could show, the "country Maori," deprived of the stimulation of city life and attending largely segregated schools, equalled the Intelligence Quotient (IQ) scores of urban whites. The "city Maori" with all their presumed benefits averaged 5 IQ points below their country cousins. Now this is embarrassing indeed for does not everyone know that when an American Negro or other minority member emigrates to the industrial north and attends an integrated school he automatically improves his performance on IQ tests? At least this is what we are told to believe. Odd, is it not, that it works just the opposite for the Maori in remote New Zealand?

Perhaps we have oversimplified. We should not pretend that one report or even 50 reports can solve this issue. One more gun in the conservative artillery will not be decisive. But this duel is not being fought by intelligent people to promote segregation or integration. The matter at stake is what is the best arrangement for both Negro and White. Can anyone say with 100% certainty that there is no other course but baysonet-point integration and the total collapse of a regional way of life held to by forty million White Americans? And if all the evidence is not in, as our one citation from the scientific literature suggests, does this not call for caution?

Who can believe that the Negro of his own initiative wishes to force himself into a society which would resent his intrusion? Rather than undertake such an unwelcome and desperate excursion, would not the Negro be satisfied if made available to him were an adequately-financed school system, properly staffed, and specially designed to meet his educational needs of the moment? Whether there is an alternate path we shall never know unless the squadrons of uncompromising partisan agitators are withdrawn from the scene and saner men are allowed to deliberate on these matters.

ECONOMICS

By LAMBERT SCHUYLER

The talk is of more price inflation, of a still cheaper dollar. The stock market behaves as though it were sure it is coming. As though—to clinch the argument—the building business is greatly improved, in new homes especially.

But anyone who has ever played the stock market knows two things very well: that when public opinion reaches a popular conclusion on any matter it is time to take the opposite stand; and, second, that when a market becomes overbought on margin it will not resume a steady upward trend until there has been a vigorous shake-out of many of the weak holders.

If the public is always wrong, according to the old Wall Street adage, then some millions of shaky holders of heavily attached property like homes and cars are still in for a rough time. Unless the rules of cause and effect have been rewritten by government spending, a great big shake-out is overdue.

And I, forlone, regard the present rate of government spending, monstrous as it is, quite inadequate to the job.

All Americans are familiar with the post-war housing developments scattered across the land with row after row of well spaced and heavily indebted homes, in summertime every street swarming with children of tricycle age and each place crammed with down-payment wares. Those houses were sold on terms so liberal that many occupants have not yet acquired enough equity to cover the agents' commissions and the contracting profits. In short, the buyers now own exactly nothing; and those who try to sell our find to their astonishment that their equities are non-existent and that the over-all prices they can get for their homes are far less than what they still owe. It is commonly rumored, in fact, that a great many of these "owners" have no intention of ever paying out on their contracts but are prepared to walk out when things get a little worse and go back to live with the old folks in the still ample home where they were born.

Yet new home building is again on the upgrade and newly married couples are again making $300 down payments with the immediate and happy intent of breeding a new flock of tricycle riders. They are also buying new cars on time and filling their dream homes with installment purchases without end. Are we to believe, then, that this crazy system actually does work if only because there is always a new crop of eager-to-be debtors entering the market? Or are we to believe that this is a pipe dream that comes true because modern money is so designed and controlled that it loses value just fast enough to prevent debtors from ever being embarrassed or shaken out of their heavily margined positions; that inflation, coupled with wage-escalator clauses, will keep America always prosperous, like a drunk on a perpetual hinge? Or does that which went up still finally come down again, whatever its orbit?

If you are a good American with a properly washed brain you should, if you don't believe in this Age of Credit in which we luxuriate. You should believe, as in a sort of economic Doolittle, that borrowing at the usual installment loan rate of 18% enables the debtor to put it over on the lender in a rather clever way because thusly does he have more of the good things of life, and sooner, than if he paid cash. The stupid lender, on the other hand, gets enormously rich but it doesn't do him any good really, you believe, because he worries so over how to collect all that is owed to him. Like Liberator, he cries all the way to the bank. And the debtor wins in the end when he walks out on the deal and goes back to help Pop with the chores.

Speak not harshly, you say, of the woman I love. This is capitalism which you, Schuyler, are making fun of. Rather, this situation calls for Faith, Confidence and a Deathless Devotion to the mortgage principle. Certainly inflation is coming; and anyone who intimates that instead we are headed for deflation and a shakeout foresees, wickedly as it were, row upon row of dwellings standing empty and in the hands of the Bank which does not like owning empty dwellings; or else in the hands of Uncle Sam who insured the mortgages and who is now in no shape financially to underwrite disaster. Should we not, actually, thank Providence for inflation and regard it not as evil but as the standing miracle of our time? As the value of the dollar sloughs away, look at the bright vision of the future!

Our oath of allegiance, as revised, puts our nation under God. In my mind's eye, our God, then, must in this scene hold in his right hand the ancient 3-ball emblem of the pawn shop.

As a matter of history, both our economy and our religion stem from the Jews. And like one of those new Buicks, even heaven, on approval of credit, may be had with a small down payment and on easy terms.

What a philosophy!

PHILOSOPHY

A NEW UNDERSTANDING OF HISTORY

By BYRAM CAMPBELL

In ancient Egypt lived the Pharaoh Ikunaton (1375-1358 B.C.) who conceived of the sun as a god, and worshipped it alone. Such was a basically new idea for it claimed supremacy for oneness. The Jews maintained this claim of supremacy for oneness in their conception of Jehovah.

Several centuries before the birth of Christ, Greek philosophers tried to discover a single unifying principle which would provide a basis for understanding nature.

In these quests the explorers were, from the point of view of this writer, projecting a demand of their inner natures on the outer world. They belonged to a breed apart—men of unstable natures, in need of an absolute to quiet doubt and inner turmoil. This demand could only be met through faith in a final reality—a reality based on oneness. We shall therefore name them monists, worshippers of oneness. In spite of or possibly because of their restricted outlooks, monists have proved to be effective propagandists. They set in motion forces which, if need be, carry on independent of monistic minds. In this writer's opinion it was such a process which brought about the Dark Ages.

During the Dark Ages men lived in an atmosphere conducive to peace of mind for the monist. An almost complete intellectual vacuum prevailed. Facts were condemned as pagan. In this way questions that might disturb the darkness of oneness were not raised.

Finally the sane members of society rejected this unquestioning attitude, and the Renaissance was born.

During the Renaissance, light flooded the land. Horizons opened in all directions. New continents were found. Men were set free to discover facts and, finally, during the Enlightenment to make deductions from them. These projects which were stimulating to normal men were having an opposite effect on monists, who longed for a new comprehensive belief that would take possession of the minds of men and again make them all as one. But first they must stop the progress of reason. During the Romantic Age, which followed the Enlightenment, a start was made toward ending the reign of reason. Not only was doubt thrown on the worth of reason, but the emotions were declared to be the only proper guide to the solution of social problems.

Collectivism means the supremacy of the whole over the parts. In this conception monistic minds can find a congenial belief, a refuge from reality in an all-enveloping oneness.

The French philosopher and social theorist, Auguste Comte, believed that humanity forms a single organism and that the individual is but an abstraction. To the normal man the opposite is true, but it is the whole which is the abstraction. Comte was for a time insane, and it is my belief that intense monists are all tinged with paranoia. Marx believed that socialism (communism) would end differences and that a classless, self-directing society would spring into being. Obviously, to such minds, even natural divisions of mankind such as those of race and nation are wrong, for they challenge the supremacy of totality.

The rulers of Communistic Russia and China suffer from a mania for unity—a characteristic of the monistic mentality. To further "unity" they have liquidated millions of dissenters. When Mao Tse-Tung could no longer escape the fact that demands for unity were but further disrupting his land, he called for "a hundred roses to bloom in a hundred gardens." But Mao could not for long tolerate diversity. Being a monist, such negated the very basis for his conception of society.

American monists have developed great programs. To further drive men into oneness the world must be made into one. America has been assigned the task of leading the "free world" into the collectivistic concept of One World. Though internationalism has cost America beyond all reckoning our monists are not concerned, for they have made tremendous progress in pursuit of the phantom, One World, this being borne out by the fact that the majority of Americans no longer resist projects based on internationalism. Today, in ever widening areas monistic minds, through the agency of various collectivistic concepts are creating a world dominated by oneness. Let us liken this to a natural phenomenon.

We are witnessing a vast whirlpool which would drag us into the depths of a new darkness. Many currents are stemming into the swirl, though they end in one. Can the whirlpool be stopped? The forces of darkness have been routed in the past and they can be again. But to accomplish this we must understand the force that would again enslave us. It is found in the minds of men—a group trembling on the brink of irrationality.

SCIENCE

Dr. Austin J. App, a recognized authority on Germany and the Allied-Russian occupation of Europe, has a few of his books and pamphlets reviewed in this issue's "Books" section.

RUSSIAN SUPREMACY, A FRUIT OF FALSEHOOD

By AUSTIN J. APP, Ph.D.

During the war, the American people were flooded with propaganda to the effect that the National Socialist government of Germany not only forced the Einsteins to emigrate, but also so-clamped down on scholars and researchers that science and learning were as dead in Germany as the Dresden art museums after the Allied blitz. When therefore after the Soviets fired the first Sputnik it came out that it was German scientists whom the Soviets had captured (under the rules of the Yalta pact) as slave laborers who organized Sputnik, everybody was taken by surprise. One was surprised to learn such incidental facts as that "Prof. Otto Hahn" (was) the physicist who first described atomic fission in 1939" (News-week, June 23, 1958), which was right when, according to propaganda. German science had been exiled from Germany with Einstein!

The September 1 issue of Newsweek reports that Soviet Russia, roused into action by the U. S. nuclear sub that negotiated the polar route, "has begun a recruiting campaign for East German scientists and former U-boat experts." It is offering them as much as $1500.00 a month with food and living quarters. Note here that these former U-boat captains were developed during a period when presumably all German science had been crushed by governmental Horst Wessel singing!

But the crowning tribute to German wartime science came recently from no other than former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson. In an interview he questioned the value of shooting a rocket to the moon. And according to Newsweek (Aug. 29, 1958):

"Mr. Wilson also expressed some reservations about other recent scientific achievements:

"On the race to launch an earth satellite (he said): 'The real competition was between two bunches of German scientists, those with the Russians and those with us.'"

Surely, if the supposedly suppressed German wartime science could produce such startling achievements, one is justified in questioning the validity of our wartime propaganda, not only with regard to German science from 1934 to 1945, but also with regard to everything else.

It is high time for the suppressed facts about these and many other crucial matters to be dug out and placed in the light of day, so that all men may see them. A non-partisan Survival Commission (as for example such as that proposed in RIGHT No. 28) would appear to be necessary to ferret out all the facts because both political parties are more or less responsible for creating and maintaining our present predicament and both are to a greater or lesser degree controlled or influenced by leftist or Morgenthauistic forces.

FOREIGN POLICY

OUR FOREIGN POLICY IS OUTDATED

By WILLIS A. CARTO

In spite of the fact that Mr. Nixon believes that anyone who says that the Russians are ahead of the United States in military preparedness is doing our Nation a disfavor, truth is still better than falsehood and facing facts is better than ignoring them. We have not yet attained a state of supine and suicidal faith in the veracity of the transient words of gilded politicians. When we do, let us forever abandon all pretense of being a free people and admit that self-government is a failure.

The hard fact is that the USSR is clearly and unquestionably ahead of the US in many vital fields of arms and that her lead is growing each day. This fact is pointed up by numerous military men and others in an unusual position to know. To ignore it is the height of irresponsibility.

The full impact of the military superiority of the Soviets has been lessened by our recent public relations feat of firing a missile towards the moon, sending a nuclear sub under the North Pole and the success of our Sidewinder air-to-air missile against the Chinese Reds over Quemoy.

These things, plus the apparent—or anyway, a temporary—

end of Soviet braggadocio, have contributed to a dangerous apathy which threatens to undermine the healthy alarm and fear that was recently beginning to make some Americans ask a few questions about how our leaders allowed us to fall into the position of military second-rater.

To begin with, we must grant the unchallenged superiority of the Central Asian bloc in ground troops. No responsible official claims that we can hope to beat Russia and her tens of millions of cannon-fodder on the ground. And practically everyone admits the obvious fact that NATO is incapable of even seriously delaying the Russian troops if they are given marching orders. It is recognized that our hope of victory in an all-out war lies in the field of technology. We must pit our superior industrial and technical skill against the masses of enemy infantry. Such is the concept.

Therefore, in the all-important technological field, one would assume that our leaders have spared nothing to assure us of superiority. But such is not the case. Ever since before the end of the war, and in spite of complete knowledge of the facts, the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower Administrations have done perhaps irreparable harm to our military position through bungling and stupid decisions.

For example, these decisions have:

(1) Turned over to the Russians after the war a fully-intact V-1 and V-2 factory at Nordhausen.

(2) Allowed almost the entire team of German scientists at Peenemunde and the Peenemunde base itself to slip through its fingers to the Reds.

(3) Allowed the Reds to kidnap over 2,000 top-notch German scientists and made conditions so difficult for German technicians, engineers, designers, etc., who wanted to work for the West that at least 250,000 of these highly skilled specialists have worked for Russia at one time or another.

(4) Allowed the Reds to make off with enough of our secrets to enable them to explode their first atomic bomb in 1949, years before our "experts" said they could, and to detonate the world's first true H-Bomb in mid-1953—seven months before we did.

(5) Refused to heed the abundant warnings of many prominent people and intelligence reports which have warned for years that the USSR was ahead of us in the development of missiles and aircraft, and then expressed surprise at the forewarned event.

(6) Allowed the Reds to get a perhaps fatal lead on us with an operational ICBM.

Now that this water has gone over the dam we find ourselves in the following predicament:

(1) In 1960, the Reds are expected to have 100 ICBMs, the US 30. In 1961, USSR 500, USA 70. In 1962, USSR 1,000, USA 130. In 1963, USSR 1,500, USA 130. These years are called "the gap" by the Pentagon. What are the years after 1963 called? "American subjugation," perhaps?

(2) There is nothing in prospect to alter this balance except a few score of the Navy's sub-borne Polaris missiles, which will be operational not before 1962. The much-touted Minuteman missile will not be operational at least until 1963 or 1964.

(3) Our SAC force, recognized as our main line of defense, which carries our power of "massive retaliation" is becoming obsolescent. With the coming transition to missile warfare, the US will be made progressively helpless beginning in a year.

(4) The Reds are even ahead of us in conventional aircraft. According to the New York Daily News they have a 5,000 plane edge in combat jet aircraft. Says the News: "We and the British are eight years behind the Russians in both long range bombers and transports."

(5) Recognizing all these facts, Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, an honest soldier, resigned from his post of command. He has charged:

"Errors in our military policy portend trouble for the United States, for they bring into question our very ability to wage war . . . we are in mortal danger."

(6) Gavin's successor, Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, has charged that Russia's gains are due more to successful espionage than scientific prowess, and went on to say, "I don't believe our situation has ever been so critical, even just after Pearl Harbor."

The recent news that the Pentagon was making a study of military surrender has seemed to many informed persons to be quite in order with the pattern of decline and demoralization outlined above. It is reported that Mr. Eisenhower was angry when he was told of the matter. But apparently his anger was because news of the study had "leaked."

The facts indicate that unless some radical steps are at once taken, or unless some completely new and unexpected quantity—such as a miracle—comes into the picture, only the most serious consequences are in view. A housecleaning is needed from the very top down, and the people who have not only brought this to pass but who are yet guiding our still suicidal policies must be thrown out.

One of the most important matters is that of foreign policy. A successful foreign policy must be based on reality. Surely the facts indicate that, at best, a thorough re-examination of our foreign policy is in order. Can we continue to attempt to defend the rest of the world with our rapidly deteriorating military capability? Obviously, we have drastically overextended ourselves. Changes must be made before the errors of yesterday become the debacles of tomorrow.

NORTHERN LEAGUE

FOR PAN-NORDIC FRIENDSHIP

PRINCIPLES

The Northern League believes in . . .

Heredity

The laws of biological inheritance apply to human beings as well as to the animal and plant kingdoms.

North European Kinship

The keltic, Teutonic, Scandinavian and Slav peoples of North European descent are the present day representatives of the great Indo-European family—the creators of the classic civilisations of antiquity as well as of the benefits of modern technology.

Human Progress

Further human progress can only be sustained if the biological heritage is preserved, and a cultural decline must inevitably follow any decay in the biological heritage or falling-off of genetic quality.

AIMS

The Northern League accordingly aims . . .

To foster North European friendship throughout the world

Internecine warfare must be abandoned if a common front is to be created amongst our peoples to resist the threat of 'annihilation by assimilation' which today faces us in all quarters of the globe.

To oppose the levelling forces of Communistic and Cosmopolitan philosophy.

Both our biological and our cultural identity are threatened by the forces of Communism and Cosmopolitanism, backed as they are by ever-increasing numbers and influence.

To combat cultural and biological decay

Even should the threat from external forces be thwarted, our biological and cultural heritage faces a still more severe threat from within. The immigration of alien peoples into our homelands and the rapid diffusion of degenerate cultural influences, mostly through the world of entertainment, but also at intellectual levels, can itself within only a few generations result in the annihilation of our race and the obliteration of our cultural heritage.

The white folk of North America, the descendents of the gallant pioneers who carved a great nation out of the wilderness, are members of the North European racial family. The Northern League extends a spacial invitation to them to join hands with their kinsmen around the World to preserve our racial heritage.
